

EKU LIBRARIES PARTNERSHIP AWARD

As part of the Noel Faculty Awards program, announced during Scholars Week held each year in April, the ECU Libraries Partnership Award is presented to an ECU instructor who works in partnership with librarians to promote information literacy in teaching and research along with promoting the role of the library as an essential component of ECU's mission.

NOMINATION CRITERIA

(The winning Instructor will demonstrate outstanding effort in one or more of the following):

- Collaborates significantly with librarians or library staff members on initiatives related to teaching and learning, research and scholarship, and/or service.
- Advocates for ECU Libraries, building bridges with students, faculty, programs, and/or departments.
- Leads or advocates departmental or college conversations around information literacy, OER-enabled pedagogy, effective pedagogical use of library resources, or other topics directly related to library services and collections.
- Redesigns assignments and/or courses to integrate a progression of information literacy skills and or to utilize OER-enabled pedagogy.
- Partners with the Libraries to enhance library collections and/or improve library services.

AWARDS

- $1000 from Endowment
- Engraved plaque (one for them, one for the library wall)
- Invited speaking engagement at New Faculty Orientation
- Serves on the Selection Committee for next year's ECU Libraries Faculty Partnership Award
- Other ambassadorship or advocacy opportunities as needed

NOMINATION PROCESS

A faculty member must be nominated by a librarian or library staff member. For past examples of exemplary partnerships, see our Past Award Winner Partnership Examples folder.
